

SRTC/LRTC SOP

The Company Training Calendar Products.

Predictability is key. Planning against an annual time horizon allows maximum predictability while affording the commander the opportunity to know an end-state, and adjust the plan as the environment around the company changes.

Changes are inevitable, a plan allows the company to adjust course while simultaneously understanding where it needs to end up.

This company uses a battle rhythm to address routine events, as well as an annual calendar to plot the progression of training events throughout the year.

This product is used in conjunction with (ICW) the company annual training guidance.

This calendar collection combines multiple calendar driven documents; the Company Battle Rhythm, Annual Glidepath, Annual LPD Glidepath, and 7 Week – 7 Day Breakdown.

This calendar collection is released annually with the company annual training guidance; together these products are the Unit Training Plan (UTP).

The company collectively develops this material. The executive officer is charged with maintaining this product. As changes occur they are addressed during weekly training meetings and updated within this product.

Specific Battle Rhythm Events listed in this product each have their own format, host, timeline, agenda, and purpose. The company executive officer ensures his SOP covers these meeting details.

The Battle Rhythm consists of regularly occurring meetings, events, and reports that are routinely occurring by Day, Week, Month, and Year. This is one way to account for all Battle Rhythm Events.

ALPHA FY56 GLIDEPATH

The Glidepath gives Soldiers a quick overview of the general progression of main events that drive all events throughout the planned year. These are adjusted accordingly during weekly training meetings and updated by the company executive officer.

ALPHA LPD GLIDEPATH

SUBJECT: Leader Development Program;
Annual Training Guidance Supplement

The Leader Professional Development Glidepath gives Soldiers a quick overview of how unit professional development is planned for the year. This glidepath can also include deliberate times in the year where leaders are encouraged to focus on Soldier individual and professional development.
